5 ESCAPE FIRE BY CELLAR WINDOW

Gloria Tavner looks at the gravestone of David Willson, founder of the Children of Peace and Sharon Temple's architect, where it was broken off at the base. Other graves at Sharon cemetery have broken stones, damage believed to have been done by vandals. The breaks in the stones show no signs of weathering.

Tombstones Broken In Sharon Cemetery

Sharon — Tombstones which appeared to have been pushed over by some person recently and broken were found in the cemetery a half-mile south of Sharon last Saturday. J. C. Boylen, first vice-president of the York Pioneer and Historical Society, discovered the broken tombstones over the graves of David Willson and his wife Phebe. Mr. Boylen, with members of East Gwillimbury township council, were inspecting the cemetery last Saturday when they discovered the damage.

David Willson was the founder of the Society of Children of Peace, no longer in existence. The religious group was made up of people who left the Society of Friends because of religious differences. The Sharon Temple, built by David Willson and the "Davidites" is now in the hands of the York Pioneer and Historical Society and is used as a museum. It is open to the public every day during the summer months.

Sharon cemetery is closely connected with the Temple and its contents because most of the graves belong to Davidites. Pictures, pieces of property, furniture and oddities in the Sharon Temple museum belonged to many of those buried there. The cemetery was started in 1822 by the Willson family and graves are marked as early as 1825. The last person to be buried there was John Tate, a blacksmith in Sharon.

At present the cemetery property has been allowed to grow wild with weeds. On Monday, an inspection tour showed the recently broken tombstones lying side by side. Many of the stones were leaning badly, the grounds were unkempt, and an empty beer carton was lying inside the gate.

Sharon cemetery is like many old grave sites in the province and district which have historical interest but which have been left to decay and grow wild. One of them can be seen at the outskirts of Newmarket on Eagle St. Until two years ago, the East Gwillimbury council cut the grass at Sharon cemetery. Some years ago a descendant of David Willson gave the council $100 to keep up the cemetery. This they did but later, the benefactor needed the money and it was returned to him by the council.

Actual responsibility for keeping up the cemetery would probably fall on the Children of Peace but there are none surviving. Although no one has taken steps to preserve it as yet, the York Pioneer and Historical Society is interested in the historical site.

THE OFFICE CAT REPORTS

Ginger Reflects On Heat Wave

By GINGER
Newmarket — Tuesday afternoon I shivered from the cold. Me feet were getting numb from it. I rolled down the sleeves of my shirt but I still shivered so I had to borrow a coat from someone.

That's the sort of jabs I get into when the boss gets his bright ideas. It leaves me sitting in Dick Ruppe's storage room at his ice plant trying to think up a story about the heat.

This all started after lunch when the thermometer behind the post office read 111 degrees in the sun. The boss man who gives me orders said "Go out and get a story about the heat."

Sweating and fuming, I stepped into the Main St. I had a feeling that the readers would probably resent me telling them that it was hot in Newmarket on

QUEENSVILLE SPORTS DAY SATURDAY

Queensville—This village has its second annual Sports Day at the park on Saturday when a program of races and novelty events, including a softball tournament of six teams, will occupy the afternoon, with carnival attractions in the evening.

Proceeds will be used to help maintain the park and pay for the moving and enlarging of the Queensville arena.

The sports day grew out of a community effort to provide adequate playground space for children and to finance the arena which, this year, is being paved with a floor for dancing and other indoor activities as well as skating in the winter.

Last year between 5 and 6,000 attended the event.

Included in the events will be a comedy show designed to be attractive to adults and children alike.

In charge of the sports day is committee chairman Rex Smith.

Railroad Charges Cousins for Pipe On Own Property

Aurora — Monday night the Aurora council was faced with a new one. Recently Lorne Cousins installed a water pipe to his new broiler house. The pipe runs underneath his right-of-way across the railroad track cutting through his property. He now finds the railroad plans to charge him an initial fee of $10 plus $5 each year for the "privilege" of having this pipeline. Council referred the matter to the town solicitor.

MOVES OFFICE

Newmarket — Bert Ward has moved his body and fender repair shop and licensing bureau to 9 Main St. from his former location at Goodman's Auto Parts on Davis Dr. Mr. Ward's business is now on the west side of Main St. in the south block.

PAVE CORNER

Newmarket — This week the county road crews surfaced the cut-off at the Prospect and Water St. corner with a tar and gravel top. The corner will have a small "island" in the centre surrounding the hydro pole and work is to start soon on a new sidewalk on the south side of the hill.

MIDLAND QUILTS AT C.N.E.

The attractive quilt designs based on Canadian themes done by Toronto artist, Thor Hansen, and used in the making of quilts for the Midland quilt and rug fair, will be on view for all to see in the women's building at the C.N.E.

This nice warm weather.

That feeling was short-lived when I stepped back onto Main St. It reminded me of the time when I worked in some Open Hearth furnaces in Hamilton. Coming down the street I met one of the people who work in the telephone office who said loud and clear without batting an eye, "Isn't this a nice mild day?"

The next afternoon there was hardly a soul on Main St. except the odd printer crawling up the hill on his hands and knees to work. Everybody else was at the lake on half holiday I guess. One of the restaurants had a sign on it, "Too hot to work."

The daily paper says this morning, "Still no relief. High today 85 degrees." Too hot to work.

STREET DANCE CARNIVAL RAISE FUNDS

Newmarket — The Lions club is completing its preparations for its annual two-day carnival and street dance here on August 17 and 18. The carnival, on Wednesday night in Lions park, will also be a feature of the street dance on Thursday on Main St. Norm Burling is providing the music.

The annual two-day event is the club's major money-making project and provides the bulk of the revenues spent on welfare and service work in Newmarket and district. Last year over $10,000 was spent on, or on behalf of, service work by the club.

Major expenditures include the Christmas Bazaar, the free summer playground, as well as provision of free milk, dental care, tonsil operations, and assistance in hospitalization.

A feature of the carnival Wednesday is Dr. Ballard's "Mutt Show" in which entries must be made on the grounds by 7.15 p.m. Prizes will be given each entrant. Classes include the dog with the largest tail, the dog with the shortest tail, largest dog, smallest dog, best dressed dog, best trick dog, and fastest eating dog.

Another highlight of Wednesday evening is the tent show of novelty acts for children and adults alike. The regular features of bingo and games are sure attractions.

The Citizens Band will be present on Wednesday.

The Lions hold this annual event so that the funds raised may be used to help others. Their slogan is "Help the Lions help others by attending."

East-West Highway Possibility 'In Mind'

The possibility of a provincial east-west highway which would take in Davis Dr. at Newmarket's north end has been the subject of much local speculation lately. When asked on Tuesday if there was any plan for such a highway, J. D. Miller, deputy minister of Ontario highways, said that the underpass at the new Barrie highway where the western continuation of the town line crosses it has been constructed for highway specifications, and indicated that it was built with such a highway in mind.

The province has not taken over any new roads for King's Highways in the last 10 or 11 years and there are still 1,600 miles of county constructed roads that have been untouched as far as bringing them up to provincial highway standards. There have been predictions, around provincial election times, however, of an east-west highway north of Toronto.

The same road would connect with highway No. 9 near Schomberg which continues west and through the main street of Orangeville. Continuing on a straight line east, a new highway could pass near Lindsay. In building an underpass on the Barrie highway, for highway standards, the department of highways has anticipated that a good east-west road will be built in the future.

The county, in the meantime, has been widening Davis Dr. east of Newmarket the past few weeks and the contract has been awarded to grade and widen the road west to Yonge St. At present there is a slight hold-up for lack of steel culverts, one to be installed inside the town limits and one farther out.

County engineer Harvey Rose said on Tuesday that pavement on Davis Dr. west to Yonge St. is "very much on the list." That portion of the road has never been properly graded and Mr. Rose said that it would be better to wait a year before paving is done. He said that grading and widening should start in ten days.

Mother, 4 Children Scramble To Safety

Five occupants of a cellar dwelling had a close escape from death early this morning when fire destroyed their home of 29 years on the second of Whitechurch north of Lake Wilcox.

Awakened by the shouts of son Alfred, 18, who had been sleeping outside the building, Mrs. William Johnson and four children climbed through a cellar window to safety after flames blocked the single exit.

The Johnsons lost everything in the fire, including a substantial sum of money, money which was to be used to complete their home. No one was hurt, thanks to the quick warning, although one of the two dogs in a kennel beside the house is missing.

The fire was discovered by Alfred Johnson who was awakened in his cot outside the home by the roar of flames as they devoured a shed at the one exit from the home. He called to his mother who woke the four children, and helped from outside by Alfred, they escaped through a cellar window.

With Mrs. Johnson were Mickey 11, Walter 13, Sadie 15, and Bert 21. Bert made an attempt to go through the door but the intense heat drove him back. Mr. Johnson, an upholsterer, lives in Toronto through the week, spending the weekends at his home.

The cellar was built of concrete blocks, and roofed with siding and tarpaper. It was divided into four rooms. The cellar was built 29 years ago when the family moved from Toronto. They had been saving their money for the erection of the upper storey of the house. Six other children are married and live away from home.

Sadie called the Aurora firemen under Chief Harry Jones but there was nothing they could do to prevent the complete destruction of the interior.

Council Tries Hard But Whitchurch Rate Up To 38 Mills

Whitchurch township council really burned the midnight oil last week when the members sat in session until long after midnight on August 3, struggling with the by-law that was passed providing for the collection of 1949 taxes. The budget, submitted by treasurer John W. Crawford, indicated increased costs all along the line, and when the rates were struck to meet the expenditures, the overall tax rate was found to stand at 38 mills, which is just five mills increase over 1948.

"I find that the necessary increase in the township general rate alone will amount to $19 over 1948 on a $5,000 assessment," said Treasurer Crawford, who laid the financial picture before councillors who didn't seem any too happy about it.

"It is folly to think that we can maintain old tax rates when everything around us is mounting in cost," said Reeve Ed Logan. "I do not like to see increased taxes, but I cannot see any way out. We have cut everywhere we can, and the people insist on the services, all-round winter roads for wheeling, dust layer and smooth travelling in summer. Now all the secondary students are conducted to school by bus, and it all adds to the tax bill. One of the worst bumps that comes is the care of outgoing patients from certain hospitals called T.B. aftercare. Every day it is costing dollars for hospitalization and aftercare."

Before the taxing by-law was submitted and passed by council, Treasurer Crawford submitted his budget, which is an estimate of receipts and expenditures by departments for the whole year. When this is adopted, the tax rate can be struck on the basis of the figures approved. After long consideration and full explanation by the treasurer, the members agreed that the picture was precisely as Mr. Crawford had drawn it, and not a figure was changed. The tax rate struck should provide a small surplus if no unforeseen circumstances cross the financial path between now and the end of the year.

Besides Reeve Logan, Deputy Reeve Ivan McLaughlin and Councillors Sid Legge and Richard Baycroft were all present.

WORK PROGRESSING

Newmarket — Construction of sewers in the Connaught Gardens area is progressing.

Aurora Legion Plans Field Day Aug. 19

Plans for Aurora Canadian Legion field day are practically completed. In the sports events, Aurora ladies will meet opposition from either Newmarket ladies (who owe them a home game) or Stouffville on Friday night, August 19. On Saturday the men's softball tournament gets underway at 1.30 p.m. and will continue throughout the afternoon. Heading the parade of entries are Brampton Legion, Newmarket Vets, Huttonville, Aurora, Silverthorn Legion, Sportsmen's Legion, Woodbridge and an entry from the Lake Simcoe league, Ted Summers of Willowdale and Bart Deane of Toronto, two of the best softball umpires in the country, have been booked to handle the games. Cash and a trophy go to the winner.

LEGION DELEGATE

Newmarket—Official delegate from Newmarket, president T. M. Ewing of the Newmarket branch of the Canadian Legion, will carry greetings from Mayor Vale to the mayor of Ottawa when he attends the provincial biennial convention at Ottawa on August 14 to 17 inclusive.

V.L.A. Cornroast Aug. 24

Final arrangements have been completed for the corn roast and dance to be held on Wednesday, August 24, on Queen St. East in the newly formed V.L.A. Sunny Hills sub-division.

A general meeting was held on Tuesday evening at the sight of the proposed affair. George Phimister presided. Much enthusiasm was shown by the large number in attendance and the work was allocated to the various committees. On August 22 all members of the Home Owners' Association, which is sponsoring the affair, will gather at the site to erect the wood floor for the dancing, to complete the erection of a booth for soft drinks and to finish the other preparations.

The proceeds will be used to purchase playground equipment for a park which will be made in the sub-division for use of all the neighborhood children. In the advent of rain the corn roast and dance will be held on the following evening. A cordial invitation is extended to the public to attend. Music for dancing will be provided by Don Gilkes and his orchestra.

The world's Most Popular Combine

Master Machine for Modern Farmers

A recent survey showed the owners of self-propelled combines in Western Canada to be divided like this:

61.9% were owners of Massey-Harris
38.1% were owners of other makes

This is a very significant fact. Farmers don't choose their machines by whim or fancy. Such a high preference for Massey-Harris is proof beyond doubt that Massey-Harris combines give them the best all-round performance... in fast harvesting, clean threshing, freedom from field delays, low cost of operation.

If you were to visit the Massey-Harris combine factory and watch the long train-loads of combines pulling out of the railway siding, you would see something else that is noteworthy. Many of these train-loads are destined for United States points, because Massey-Harris combines are as popular in Kansas, Texas and the Dakotas as they are in the Canadian West.

And if you observed further, you would find many carloads destined for far-away countries like Argentina, India, Turkey, Tanganyika. All over the world, the Massey-Harris self-propelled combine is known and recognized as the master machine for modern farmers. Wherever you find modern agriculture, you find Massey-Harris combines in use and in demand.

To Borrow $14,500 For Mt. Pisgah School

In special session last week Whitchurch township council passed a bylaw to borrow $14,500 for the account of School Section No. 6 (Mount Pisgah) repayment of which will be spread over 20 years and bear interest at 3% percent payable semi-annually in equal annual payments of principal and interest. When the money, which is to be used for building a new school to replace the burned structure, is all paid back, it will be found that the total interest bill will be $5,904.61. The school section has an assessment of $121,000 and the tax rate annually to meet the debenture payment would be 8.4 mills, but the section, however, will recover half the cost of debenture from provincial grant, hence the actual or net rate will be 4.2 mills for 20 years.

The debenture is not the whole cost of the new school, since monies received by insurance are available to apply against additional expenditures over and above the loan.

Councillor Legge submitted a resolution which stated that plans for a garage submitted by Herbert Paul at Bogartown met with requirements of township by-law, and the department of highways will be so notified.

A letter of thanks was directed by Councillor Baycroft to be sent to both East Gwillimbury and Markham townships for the co-operation of their police forces recently in assisting Whitchurch.

Deputy Reeve McLaughlin moved that council approve of the proposed sub-division plan of part of lot 61, con. 1, Township of Whitchurch, as submitted by E. E. Muirhead. A marked cheque for $900 was received from Mr. Muirhead covering estimated cost of grading, graveling and placing culverts in the sub-division. Council passed the resolution, and work will be done right away.

The clerk was instructed by resolution moved by Councillor Timbers to notify Wilcox Lake Ratepayers' Association that a new petition will be required for a proposed road on the north side of the lake out to Yonge St. The original petition received estimated the cost at not

The first Canadian Quilt and Rug fair was held in Midland recently under the sponsorship of the Simcoe County Arts and Crafts Association with the co-operation of the Midland Chamber of Commerce. We attended the fair and were impressed with the excellence and variety of the work which had been done, for the most part, by Simcoe County housewives in their spare time.

Many of the patterns were of the traditional pioneer design but a fresh note was struck by the contributions of a Danish-Canadian artist, Mr. Thor Hansen, who had created patterns authentic to the district but strikingly modern in their conception. The originals of the Hansen designs were on display with some of the quilts which had been fashioned from them, the whole an encouraging indication of the development of art forms native to Canada.

Served a Double Purpose

The fair served a double purpose. It was a tourist attraction of no small worth, and it was a means to encourage craft work. The advantages of the former are immediately obvious; of the latter, more must be said than simply remarking upon craft work of this sort as a medium of recreation.

The encouragement of quilt and rug making is helping to preserve the pioneer arts, and in the process, something of the essence of the pioneer spirit from which is derived so much of our national inspiration. It is helping create a sense of Canadianism in contrast to an unquestioning acceptance (for the lack of something better) of imports from the south. Canadians have been handicapped in the development of an indigenous culture by a slavish obedience to our French and English heritages on one hand, and by the rising tide of Americanism in literature, films, music, and—worst of all—fads. The quilts and rugs on display in Midland were in part, an extension of an original pioneer effort, and in part, indicative of a new, thoroughly Canadian, culture.

Significance for Newmarket

The Midland effort has an additional significance for us because of the increasing emphasis placed upon craft work in Newmarket and district. The efforts of the ladies' handicraft group in Newmarket are well known, particularly their major project, the purchase of a loom and the encouragement of home weaving.

In Newmarket, too, Pickering College has contributed notably to the encouragement of art and hand work of Canadian origin. Mr. Rudy Renzius, in his work at the college and on his own behalf, is part of the same effort. Others come quickly to mind. The Newmarket arts group, its number individually recognized for their work, is collectively capable of expanding an interest in native art. Mr. Fred Hagan, formerly at Pickering and now teaching in Toronto, contributes a refreshing contrast to the traditional in his painting and suggests new directions in the development of an essentially Canadian art. Still another is Mrs. Kate Mather who, by her association with Emily Carr, helps maintain a continuity in the development of Canadian art forms and thinking, and by her own work encourages an interest in handicrafts.

And others yet: the leaders in the Women's Institute's historical research work; Mrs. Trewhella of Newmarket whose historical papers have done much to preserve the origins and early development of this district; the county historical societies and the numerous individuals who have preserved in family records and historical relics. All these in their varied ways are sharing in the awakening of a sense of Canadianism, a development of a national consciousness — and that is good for Canada.

The Editorials:

Help The Lions Help Others

The Newmarket Lions club in the year ending June 30 spent over $10,000 in service work within the community. The size of the amount will surprise many people, for while the benefits of the summer playground, for example, on which $561 was spent last year are readily noticed, only the parents of the children involved would know about tonsil operations or eyesight care, an expense of $191 and $101 respectively which was paid by the club.

The Lions' concern with assistance to those who require it extends into every aspect of the community life. The club encourages boys and girls with its oratorical contests, its sponsorship of teams and the provision of equipment. The club provided free milk at a cost of $199, paid hospital bills for children to the extent of $334, paid $358 for transportation to hospitals, financed 17 dental patients at a cost of $174.

Lions work is not confined to assistance to individuals. The Boy Scout Campsite Fund, the Artificial Ice Fund, the Salvation Army and a host of other worthy causes received assistance from the club to a total of $1,335. The Christmas Basket Fund, sponsored by the club and assisted by donations from individuals, is an annual feature of the club's work, which last year involved the expenditure of close to $1,000. The maintenance of the public park which the club created in the centre of town cost $252.

The funds which finance these community benefits are raised by the Lions club and augmented by the generosity of individuals. The Lions minstrel show last spring, for example, raised over $500 as well as materially assisting the band and contributing to the funds of a neighboring club. But the bulk of the funds which enable the club's welfare activities are raised by the annual two-day carnival and dance, this year on Wednesday and Thursday, Aug. 17 and 18.

The extent to which the Lions carnival and dance is patronized will determine the extent to which the club can maintain its welfare work. When you attend the carnival and dance, you are investing in more than your own enjoyment; you are helping the Lions help others.

Selling Newmarket

The days of the sellers' market have passed but there are many merchants who have yet to fully appreciate just what that means. The days of scarcity, when the consumer was entirely dependent upon the merchant, have spoiled many merchants as salesmen. They continue to operate as if they still are piping the tune for the customers to dance to.

There is plenty of business to be done, but it is passing by those merchants who are not exerting themselves to attract it. Newmarket merchants have, besides the job of selling their services and their wares, the handicap of Newmarket's location and inconvenience to overcome. The situation of Newmarket, athwart the route to the lake, once represented an exclusive bid to transient trade. It does no longer, not with the improvement of third concession, not with the increasing use of the town line to the north, and Water St. out Gorham or up Prospect St. to the south and east, as a means to by-pass our congested Main St.

One Newmarket merchant, perhaps others by the time this has been printed, is showing fresh initiative in attracting customers to his store and business generally to the town by engaging a demonstration booth at the Queensville Sports Day. The advantages to the move are immediately obvious; the thinking which inspired it are uncommon. However, there is nothing to prevent other merchants from emulating his action to their own advantage.

Better still, if the Newmarket fair was revived as a showplace for agriculture, and for business and industry, Newmarket would have a chance of retaining its supremacy as the business centre of north York instead of risking loss of that position because of the physical disadvantages of location and lay-out, and the casual outlook of its businessmen.

Source Of Inspiration

A concern with the preservation of historical places and relics is, in the view of a good many, a waste of time and effort. The past, they say, has value only to the extent that instructs the present and illuminates the future. What instruction is there, they ask, in the cannon ball or the oak loom in Sharon Temple?

Viscount Alexander of Tunis, Governor-General of Canada, had a few words on the subject while travelling through the Huronia district where an intensive effort has been made to preserve historical associations. "History plays an important part in our lives, whether we like it or not," he said. "It will play its part even if we are ignorant of it, but it will play an even greater part if we are conscious of it."

That is the value of the cannon ball and the oak loom: their existence where we can see them and touch them reminds us anew of the passage of the years, of the events which led to the firing of the cannon ball, to the making of the loom—in a word, makes us more conscious of our history. "The backbone of a nation stems from the sons of its soil—those who dig their roots deep in the homes they have made their own," the Governor-General said. Our knowledge, our consciousness of the past, strengthens those roots, improves the sustenance we derive from them.

The cannon ball and the oak loom inspire a thousand thoughts: of the undefended border, the heroism of Brock, the story of Laura Secord, of the privation of the pioneers, the endurance with which they faced the wilderness, their patience and devotion to good workmanship. Our museums are not the storerooms of a musty past. They are the custodians of our traditions, the sources of new inspiration.

Single-Minded Direction

The suggestion was made in an editorial last week that the brief on conservation, being prepared by York county for presentation to a provincial legislative committee, include a recommendation for unified leadership. We pointed out that at present four departments are concerned with conservation in the provincial government, that there are additionally numerous semi-official bodies as well as private groups, and that to varying degrees, many of these are concerned primarily with one or two of the many aspects of conservation and press their cause to the disadvantage of the others.

This has brought considerable confusion, misunderstanding, and waste in the establishment of conservation practices.

Last week the conservation committee of the legislature was in London where it heard briefs from both Middlesex and Elgin delegations urging the establishment of a conservation branch under the department of agriculture with the agricultural representatives acting as administrative officers for the branch. Other delegations have similar suggestions, all aimed at ending the multiplicity of direction in conservation.

If the legislative committee does nothing more than to bring an end to conflict between the numerous conservation bodies, and to establish a single government department to deal with all conservation matters, it will have done much. For conservation's biggest handicap now is not the lack of public interest, but the lack of single-mindedness in giving it direction.

By His Example . . .

A good citizen does everything he can to assist in the enforcement of the law. There is, however, no legal or moral obligation which would require the act of a Toronto man who was murdered in his effort to halt a desperate criminal. To many, the price that Alfred Layng paid for being a good citizen seems disproportionately high. The criminal was an armed robber who had held up a chain store. He took an estimated $1,000 which he dropped in his flight.

If it were simply a matter of the money involved, Layng was foolhardy. But Layng could have no idea of how successful the thief was. If Layng had responded to the cry of "stop thief" with a careless disregard for his life or the happiness of his wife and child, there would again be little cause for praise. But Layng took the time to make sure of his child's safety before facing the fugitive. He acted quickly and coolly, with apparent awareness of what he was doing.

In giving his life to enforce the law, Layng made the law that much more secure. It is the immediate duty of the police to enforce the law but their efforts could not be successful without the assistance of the people. The willingness of citizens to add their efforts, even to death, is by far the greater deterrent.

There can be no censure of Alfred Layng, only praise—not because of his courage, in tackling an armed criminal, but because he acted in defense of a principle. There was no material gain by Alfred Layng's death; had he detained the fugitive, the immediate advantage would have been small to the risk that he ran. By giving his life, Layng re-affirmed that the criminal must not only risk the efficiency of the police, but the determination of the citizens to prevent crime with their own lives if necessary.

A bit of human comedy took place on Main St. the other day, boss, on which I have based a little one-act play involving three motor car operators.

Enter three automobiles, two upper right, one lower left. There is a rending scrape of metal and the three vehicles come to rest. The drivers emerge.

First Driver: "Hey, you lousy lout, where do yuh think yer goin'?"

Second Driver: "Awfully sorry, old chap, but I was just minding my own business on the right side of the road."

Third Driver: "You are all wrong. I was only doing 30 when all at once you yard birds messed things up right in front of me."

There follows, in centre stage, a heated argument. Each turns back on other and inspects damage to fenders, jotting down data in notebooks. They return to centre stage and renew similar argument as above.

Enter, left, officer of the law.

Three Drivers (in unison): "Officer, I was driving along minding my own business when all of a sudden . . ."

"Officer: 'What's the idea of driving along minding your own business? You should be minding the road, else you wouldn't be in this mess.'"

Second Driver: "But officer, this narrow street and all that, you know, leaves but little room to pass. I tell you it's beastly or something, is this Main St."

Officer: "In this town we don't pass on the Main St. We merely 'manage to get by.' Pass is a forbidden word except in bridge. If other people can 'manage to get by,' you can 'manage to get by' too."

Enter, left, a Sherman tank of World War II vintage. Spirit of Newmarket pokes head out of turret.

Spirit of Newmarket: "And what's more, you people ought to feel lucky you have such a fine Main St. After all, it was good enough for our forefathers!"

Exit, right, Spirit of Newmarket in Sherman tank, bunting way through traffic, leaving officer and three drivers agape in centre stage.

Curtain

Enter bard bearing harp who sings:

BALLAD OF MAIN ST.

Down the street came Mr. Funk:

Driving a facsimile of a pile of junk.

Up the street came Mr. Bix:

Driving his pride, a brand new "six."

Down and up were bound to meet.

They did—with a crash—on narrow Main St.

Funk and Bix, both irate,

Jotted down numbers from each license plate.

Soon many others were on the scene

Holding up traffic from Water to Queen.

"Foolish clowns," pedestrians say,

"To try and pass on this narrow way."

It's the same old story with the same old end—

The nice car's grill on the junk pile's fender.

For still a junk pile is the Funkian mess

And Bix's "six" is something less.

Why do farmers go in and out of production? The question is asked by all classes of farmers and business people. A few months ago, hog prices were forced down to $36 per hundred. The daily farm broadcast did not mention any heavy run of hogs on the market. About that same time, the statistics branch announced that there was a larger number of sows bred to farrow in the spring of 1949 than there had been for some years.

This meant there was a larger supply of hogs for market in the fall. We cannot help but wonder if those two things were connected. Our farm leaders are trying to get some stability in farm prices. Our bacon contract will be short 100,000,000 pounds this year.

We can't blame the farmer too much. On most farms the working capital is in livestock. The stock cheque comes back and has to go to pay the feed bill. The feed dealers cash this cheque and the farmer starts in on another six months. If the farm prices are forced down without any apparent reason the farmer's profit is so small that he has to be careful. We have a class of farmer who has some capital in a few loads of hay and a bin or two of grain, or a bank account. To these farmers the fluctuation of farm prices is not so serious. They can take a loss and stay production. The large part of farmers is working one to six months back. The cheque is spent before it is received.

We might say there are four classes of farmers today. Number one class, good feeders and breeders, have plenty of capital and good businessmen. This class is trying by farm organization to have some kind of stability of price and production of farm produce.

Class number two farmers are smart and watch the prices. They go out and buy below market price and resell above market price. I asked one of these men if he thought that was right or fair. The answer was that if the farmer does not know the price, that is his hard luck.

Class number three, men who have made their money in some other business than farming or on the speculative market. They welcome the chance to buy in stock at a discount or a loss to some other farmer.

Class number four farmers do not keep track of the farm prices. And they are easy prey for the resell man and the speculative farmer.

Classes number two and three, resell and speculation farmers, oppose any kind of farm organization on the grounds that they have a right to buy and sell how and where they wish. These two classes of farmers don't want to miss a chance to make some easy money even at the expense of some other farmer.

Strange but true, farm organizations get the most opposition from farmers. Number one class tries to do something. Numbers two and three oppose and work against any regulation of farm prices. Class number four is the one that needs and would benefit the most from a controlled farm produce price. Our meat board that arranges our meat contract cannot see the amount to ship overseas and then not fulfil the contract. And you cannot expect the farmer to stay in production when the prices fluctuate on hogs $3 per hundred lbs. This often takes the small profit the hog producer has. There is only one answer. We must have a set price on hogs at least 12 months in advance. Cheerio.

THE OLD HOME TOWN By STANLEY

From the Files of 25 and 50 Years Ago

Last Monday afternoon the Penrose family held its annual reunion at the farm home of Mr. E. N. Penrose, according to the files of 25 years ago. A program of games and plays was arranged for the younger members while the older ones visited. A feature of the afternoon was the presentation of an electric reading lamp to Mr. J. W. Stephens, one of the oldest members of the gathering, on the occasion of his birthday by his nieces and nephews. About 150 were present at the gathering.

Miss Starr and Miss Pollard, Norwich, Mr. and Mrs. H. Parrish, Toronto, Mr. and Mrs. Bert Hawtin and family of Beaverton are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. M. F. Starr, Pine Orchard.

The carpenters are through at the new Lorne Ave. public school and the painters are putting on the finishing touches so as to have everything ready when school opens on September 2. The roads and bridges committee is working on the improvement of Lorne Ave. and a new sidewalk for the use of the children.

A farewell is to be held on Monday night for Dr. and Mrs. Norman in the Methodist church, Newmarket, by the two districts which support him in his missionary work, Alliston and Bradford, when they present him with a car to help in his work. Dr. and Mrs. Norman are leaving August 13 to resume their work in Japan.

A fair market on Saturday, according to the files of 50 years ago, and butter still going up, 18 cents was paid though 17 cents was the ruling price. Eggs were much in demand at 12 and 13 cents. New potatoes dropped to 15 cents a peck or 50 cents a bus. Homegrown green corn made its first appearance and sold at 10 cents a doz. Celery sold at five cents a head, beets, six for five cents and carrots 20 for five cents. Ripe tomatoes were three cents a lb., black currants ten cents a qt. and thimbleberries ten cents or three boxes for 25 cents.

Mr. J. D. Wismer, Parkdale C.I. and his brother, Mr. Edward Wismer, Grand Rapids, Mich., were in town this week visiting their father, Mr. D. L. Wismer.

Mr. Herbert B. Petch, son of chief C. A. Petch, Aurora, left on Tuesday for Swan River Valley, Man., as a missionary.

Mrs. Edwin Hunter is back in Newmarket after an absence of over a year which has been spent in New York, Albany, Thousand Islands, Lindsay and other places. She intends to reside on the Yonge St. homestead.

Mr. H. E. Irwin, clerk of the peace of York county and son of Mr. Jared Irwin, Newmarket, left on Saturday afternoon for a trip to Halifax.

Foot-Notes
BY WILLIAM FOOTE
AURORA EDITOR

The accident toll on highway 27 has been out of all proportion during the present holiday season. So extensive has been the danger on this highway to life and limb that residents of the Schomberg area are now proposing to forward a petition to the Department of Highways requesting remedial action immediately.
In every accident the motorist is partly to blame. In the case of highway 27, the condition of the highway certainly must be held responsible for the majority of accidents.
By and large, highway 27 from Bell's Lake to highway 9 consists of a nearly endless series of traffic hazards. Hardly wide enough for two cars to pass, it is liberally sprinkled with sharp curves and deceiving hills and knolls. It is nothing more than a narrow strip of poor pavement following the unaltered surface of the ground. Possibly the most dangerous spot on highway 27 is the stretch between the turn into Schomberg and highway 9. There can be no possible, or at least no reasonable explanation, for this portion of the highway remaining unmarked. Despite a series of sharp knolls, the highway is not divided by a white line, nor is it marked with sign posts or other road signs.
The dangerous condition of highway 27 has been apparent for some time. It was reported in Toronto papers recently that the Ontario Provincial Police had repeatedly protested this condition, to no avail.
The attitude of the provincial government in this matter has been one of irresponsible negligence. They must not set aside the repair of this highway to "some future date." Action is required now. Otherwise we are faced with the continuance of the present high cost in lives, health, and property on this highway.

Weekly Garden-Graph
By DEAN HALLIDAY
Released by Central Press Canadian Lowly though the onion may be, it is one of the most useful vegetables to come from the home garden. Therefore, it is important to know how to harvest and store the crop correctly.
When onions are not pulled to be used as green onions, but are left in the ground to mature, the tops of the bulbs top over as the bulbs reach their full growth. If the tops do not drop of their own accord, they should be bent over to the ground to encourage ripening. This can be done by hand, or more quickly by using a lawn roller or barrel.
The accompanying Garden-Graph shows how onions should be laid out to dry before the tops are cut off. This procedure is as follows: when the tops are well dried down, pull the onions and let them lie in the sun and cure for a day or so. Then cut off the tops about an inch above the bulb.
Onions can be stored in ventilated baskets, crates or loosely woven mesh bags, as illustrated. If the quantity to be stored is small, the bag containing them can be hung from a rafter or a hook on the wall.
Good ventilation is most essential for successful storage of onions. A dry, well-ventilated place such as an attic makes a good storage space. Slight freezing does not injure onions provided they are not handled while they are frozen.
Care in storing onions repays one's efforts since onions are used in the kitchen more than any other vegetable from the home garden with the exception of potatoes.

GOLDEN GLOW
says
I was reminded the other day that I had said some day I would write about Bogart's woods, just this side of Bogart town. I really have no idea what name it is called now, nor how much of the beloved place still remains, for I understand a few years ago a portable saw-mill was busy there, and when I heard that, I determined to keep my memories of it as I used to know it. So I can only speak of it as I knew it in the long ago, when it was called "Bogart's woods"—for I haven't been there for years and years.
In your young days you never think a good long walk anything to grumble about. In fact, you enjoy it—and it was always a special treat when we were taken to Bogart's woods. Millard's woods and Lewis' woods, at the west end of town, were comparatively close for a picnic, but it was "quite a jaunt" to the Bogart's woods, and if we could stay for a picnic supper and come home in the cool of the evening, that was a "super" treat.
Memories of Youth
Queer how things that we did in our younger days are indelibly imprinted on our memories. The walk over to the woods was either in from Gorham St., round the edge of Gorham St. pond, or up Court St. and east past the big farm-house on the late Mr. George Williams' place, on down a hill to where there was a spring and a boxed-in place where the cattle came to drink. It was along there that the "abandoned gold-mine" was located. I have written about that before, under the heading, "A Hoax."
Then we all knew we must watch our step when we came to the mud-hole inside the woods, for it was quicksand or something, and you were sucked under if you missed your footing. Once we knew a young woman who was in up to her waist, and if her brother-in-law hadn't been there dear knows how she ever would have gotten out! We carefully stepped on the huge tufts of grass, logs, stepping stones and what-have-you, and breathed a sigh of relief when all were safely over.
Then came the prettiest part—the Lovers' Walk and the Fairy Circle. It was our picnic spot,

On special occasions we paddled in the creek, which was as much fun as the small fry get nowadays at summer resorts (maybe more). We built sand castles, made mud pies, raced our homemade boats and did all the other jolly things youngsters do. And I recall one picnic where we all sat around to listen to several chapters of Little Women, and once it was Tom Sawyer. Then the baskets were opened and the cloth spread on the ground, and we all sat trailer-fashion 'round it.
Pish to Spiders, Ants
What if a spider crawled across it—who cared? What if an ant wanted to sample the icing on the cake? What if the crows gathered overhead waiting their share? It was all part of the glad good time. Then we packed up and as a last treat, we were taken along the path Chinese-fashion, over the stile, and on till we could see Bogarttown mill and Bogarttown pond and the houses on the road beyond. The old mill was fascinating and the smell of the meal being ground was another memory, and the water dripping off the big mill-wheel, and the miller, white from head to foot, who cheerily called out to us and waved his hand.
Then we formed up again, Chinese-fashion, for the return trip, for it was just a narrow path. We wanted to stop and read the names carved in the bark of a huge beech tree, but there never was time—so off we went so as to get home in good time. Once it was a trifle later than we usually stayed and our elders were hurrying us along and I did so want to stop and investigate a tall, tall tree where the crows were congregating for the night. It wasn't sundown, but they were there in such numbers, and I was told it was where they all came to spend the night. I can still hear the racket they made. I'd like to see that sight again!

EVERYBODY'S BUSINESS
by Don Graham

Here are six ways to improve your relationships with other people through conversation:
1. Think before you speak. Result: you'll express yourself more clearly and to the point. And you'll avoid blunders.
2. Be a good listener. Conversation should be like a game in which the ball is tossed back and forth among the players. No one should hog the ball.
3. Be tactful. Remember, contradictions arouse resentment.
4. Draw out the other fellow. It's the only way to get to know him. Let your attitude reflect appreciation, kindness and personal interest.
5. Relax. Smile. Tension ruins conversation.
6. Comb your mind for news, views, stories or information that are unusual. Present your subject in an original way. If you find yourself starting to say something trite and commonplace—don't!
The modern life insurance agent listens to you, in order to fully understand your financial needs. Then, drawing on his experience and knowledge of life insurance policies, he suggests a plan which will meet those needs most satisfactorily.

HANDS IN TRAINING...FOR ONTARIO

Learning to Make Plastics
IN Ontario the wheels of industry turn for the benefit of every single one of us. Our lathes, dynamos, drill presses, farm combines, tractors, business machines, etc. are producing goods and services which earn dollars. These dollars provide food, clothing, medical care and other necessities which contribute to our security and high standard of living. Every single one of us, therefore, has a very personal interest in the flow of a steady supply of trained workers to industrial plants. These workers will operate machines which are important to our way of life.
We should appreciate, then, the co-operative efforts of government, industry and labour in the field of employee training. In schools and in factories our workers, young and old, are given the opportunity to develop new and specific skills in every field of business and industrial activity. For instance, as in the pictures shown here, every effort of Ontario's newly-skilled plastics workers will mean better plastic products—will help to make Ontario a finer place in which to live and work.
THE BREWING INDUSTRY (ONTARIO)

Our Way of Life Rewards Trained Hands
Ontario workers know they can earn more, have executive responsibility and enjoy a higher standard of living in direct ratio to the skills they acquire and the way they make use of them. That's always true in a free economy—that's why our competitive system will continue to make Canada great and a great place in which to live.

Lodge Complaint
Boxla Semi-Final

Time and circumstances combined to leave a monkey-wrench into the bid of our lacrosse "Redmen" for a win in the opening tilt of the group semi-finals. Time element sneaked into the picture when the time-keepers, without knowledge of the referees or teams, decided to shorten the final period by playing straight time in the last five minutes in order to comply with the 11 p.m. curfew imposed by the town of Weston on all contests under the lights.

Up to the point when straight time came into vogue Newmarket "Redmen" were holding a 9-3 margin. During the abbreviated session Weston cornered the tying and winning markers to nose in front 10-9. Newmarket filed a complaint with O.L.A.
headquarters on the shortened period. Apparently they have the referees' support. As yet no decision has been made. If the game goes into the records Westmounts have a game advantage in the semi-final three out of five series.

Intermediates Sweep
Hosts at Stouffville

There must be something in this lend-lease business. Newmarket intermediate baseballers found it worked well at Stouffville Tuesday evening. Booked for an exhibition with its old rival, Newmarket found it could rustle up only six men for the trip. They went along and borrowed three juveniles from the host crew. Newmarket found itself in the unhappy position of having no equipment along.
Stouffville playing the perfect hosts said sure, use ours. The Redmen did and found the Stouffville bats carried a full quota of base hits for them. On the other hand Stouffville couldn't produce off the southpaw slants of Norm Stundon. Stundon stood them on their ear with a mere three hits, giving Newmarket a chance to record an 8-0 victory.

The Newmarket squad picked on two Stouffville hurlers for its winning margin. "Lefty" Wagg went to the showers in the third on a three-run space.
Bob Hazzard took over in the fourth but fared even worse as our Redmen bounced him for a flock of hits and six runs.
Leading the Newmarket hit attack were Mac Clement with three, Tommy McHale and Laurie Thoms with a pair each. In fact every Newmarket swinger connected for at least one safely.
The six Newmarket men to share the glory were Mac Clement, Norm Stundon, Tom McHale, Stan Winger, Laurie Thoms and Bill Haskett.

THIRD TEAM DEFAULTS

For a third time this season Newmarket "Vets" and a host of their fans waited in vain for a team to show at the park. Finally they had to tell their fans that no game was forthcoming.
Both team and fans departed fed up with the state of affairs in the North York Softball League.
On the first occasion Woodbridge failed to show for a scheduled contest, then Lansing were the absentees and Tuesday 7:30 rolled around and no team. Langstaff was due to be the visitor.

—Miss Alice Fowler, Toronto, spent the weekend with Miss Nellie Broughton.

The scoring took a give and take pattern. First Newmarket was up, then Westmounts forged ahead. Seven all deadlocks at the half-way mark. Each team collected a goal in the third.
Then the Redmen snared a goal lead early in the final session and Westmounts, as mentioned in the abbreviated final five minutes, took over for the win.
Perry Standerew was top man for the Redmen finding time to scamper up from his defence position for three important counters. "Mutt" Collings grabbed a share of the spot-light with two tallies, while brother Bruce, Bob Hanna, Harvey Mashinter and Harry Legge were in for one each. Tom Cooney, the club's leading marksman, was an absentee owing to holidays.

Coach "Mutt" Walsh and his Armitage Heights neighbor, Larry Sheffe, came up with an optimistic note on the team's changes to cop the series. "The boys will do it here tonight."
Let's get down and give them a hand with a round of cheers.
Rink tonight. It's cool inside.

Tennis Club Defeats
Richmond Hill Team

Headed by a sweep in the men's doubles and a split in the ladies' and mixed doubles Newmarket Tennis club came back with fine report on its Friday evening jaunt to Richmond Hill for a North York Tennis League tournament. Bob Yates, Keith Davis and company gained five victories in the eight games played. Results are as follows with Newmarket players named first:

Ladies' doubles: Margaret Davis and Mary Dales defeated Alvina Smith and Ellenor Smith, 6-4, 2-6, 6-5. Helen Coveney and Vi Curtis were defeated by Diana Andrews and Janet Harris, 4-6, 6-1, 6-3.

Men's doubles: Bob Yates and Keith Davis chalked up a 6-3, 6-1 win over Tim Saul and Harry Hill. Jerry Hugo and Jack Pepp-piatt made it a clean sweep for Newmarket of the men's doubles with 6-4, 3-6, 6-5 win over Don Wilson and Geo. McLaren.

Mixed doubles: Margaret Davis and Bob Yates defeated Alvina Smith and Tim Saul, 6-3.
Helen Coveney and Keith Davis defeated Janet Harris and Harry Hill 6-2. Vi Curtis and Jack Peppiat were defeated by Diana Andrews and Geo. McLaren, 6-3. Mary Dales and Jerry Hugo were defeated by Ellenor Smith and Don Wilson, 6-2.

the lower Parish Hall today when the guest speaker will be Mrs. Olive Watson of London,
Eng., who is visiting her aunt,
Mrs. Alex. Thompson, Victoria Ave., for the summer. The members are making the meeting the occasion of their annual picnic, but on account of the heat they have planned to hold it in the Lower Parish Hall. The beautiful white gladioli on the altar were grown by Mr. and Mrs. J.
Hiller, Davis Dr., also the bou-quet of perennial phlox of every shade at the memorial tablet.

MIAMI BEACH
Many people from this district attended the Sutton Horse Show at Sutton last Friday and Saturday and all report it was a good show.

The people of this community are very sorry to learn that Howard King had to undergo an appendix operation in York County hospital. We all wish him a speedy recovery.

The LaRue family is sporting a lovely new Ford car.
Mr. Carl Graham has started to build his new home on Pasa-

THE HOMEMAKERS
Salads For Summer Eating

The three musts of salad preparation are attractiveness, crispness and flavor. An attractive salad never fails to please. Freshness and crispness are prime factors in salad making and only the highest quality greens should be used. A salad will add a cool, colorful touch to the menu or it can be a meal in itself.

"A salad every day" is a slogan which is easy to follow these days with the many vegetables fresh from the garden. Here are three which you can try this week.

STUFFED TOMATOES
4 Large firm, ripe tomatoes
1 Cup mayonnaise, cottage cheese or thick sour cream
Salt and pepper
1 Cup shredded cabbage
1 Cup shredded carrots
Lettuce
Parsley
Wash tomatoes, remove stem and scoop out the pulp, reserving pulp for use in filling. Sprinkle inside of tomatoes with salt, invert and chill in refrigerator. Dice tomato pulp and drain. Season mayonnaise, cottage cheese or the sour cream (whichever used) with salt and pepper. Mix cabbage, carrots, and tomato pulp, add mayonnaise and blend well together lightly. Fill tomatoes with cabbage mixture and serve on crisp lettuce. Garnish with radish roses. Yield: six servings.

To add color to the salad, add a little chopped parsley or chopped cucumber peelings to the cabbage mixture, when adding mayonnaise and cucumber.

SUPPER SALAD
2 Cups dried cooked meat
1 Tomatoes, coarsely chopped
1 Cup chopped cucumber
1 Cup chopped green onion
2 Tbsp. chopped parsley
Mayonnaise
Blend the meat and vegetables with sufficient mayonnaise to moisten. Serve at once on crisp lettuce. Yield: six servings.

IT'S A Woman's World
BY CAROLINE E. ION

Canada has never been noted for its excellent cuisine. Tourists may rave about the tranquil beauty of Lake Louise, the rustic charm of a Maritime fishing village or the welcome coziness of a Muskoka night, but they usually cast disparaging remarks about our coffee or steaks. Times are changing. American tourists are beginning to respect Canadian cookery. Early last fall the Junior Chamber of Commerce of Canada set to work to correct these faults.

In a program of tourist promotion-dollar conservation, they attempted to arouse Canadians' interest in dishes which would be particularly national. But first they took a look at their local food businesses. All across this Dominion conferences were held with restaurant owners and food men to investigate existing conditions. In town after town the picture proved fairly grim—not sufficient lunch rooms; poor variety in menus; open for only short periods daily; and so on went the list of faults. Authorities on commercial food handling were called in; new dishes discussed and gradually a plan of improving Canada's eating facilities evolved. Royd Beamish, Food Liaison Officer of the Foreign Exchange Control Board, put his time and efforts into the project as it gained the attention of the government.

American dollars are vitally important to our country and one way to ensure the receipt of a steady flow of them is to provide the type of service which will attract more and more tourists. Once a restaurant becomes known as a spot of tasty, well-prepared meals, it has found the path to success. So it is with the tourist trade. Satisfaction will bring the welcome business.

To this end the 209 clubs of young businessmen called Junior Chambers of Commerce, or Jaycees, started their search for distinctive Canadian dishes. Here they felt was the perfect opportunity to develop ten dishes at least, which would boost the reputation of the culinary arts in the kitchens of each of our ten provinces. What they wanted were not rich, expensive recipes, but simple, plain fare which would call for second helpings in Canadian homes across the country. The type of dish which is a favorite with your own family and yet one which you can enjoy serving to others, visitors in your home. Here they felt was the way to provide the drawing card for the welcome American tourists—give them something they never have at home—something they will tell others about and recommend. And it is beginning to work. Mary Millicamp of the Millicamp place in Toronto says, "We've heard very few kickers this year about the general run of food."

"Three Thousand Miles of Good Food", a booklet containing these ten distinctive Canadian dishes, has been published by the Jaycees and distributed across Canada. From Newfoundland, the newest province comes a "super" recipe for the humble codfish. Prince Edward Island with its "spuds" and salt water clams gives a dish which rates top honors—Clam Chowder Atlantic Style. Peticodiac Baked Beans from New Brunswick have a "flavor all their own and a tradition of many Saturday suppers behind them". From Annapolis Valley come the Nova Scotian contribution in an apple pudding which "will tempt the most jaded palate". Quebec supplied a soup recipe that is a meal in itself. "The French Canadian cuisine is the result of a dozen generations of good cooks."

Blueberries took the spotlight in our own province. Seems that American visitors can't get enough of them and right across the prairies to the blue Pacific, each province contributed its specialty. During the next few weeks we shall give you these recipes in "The Homemaker" column. They are really worth trying and adding to your family's list of favorites.

This might have been called a story of co-operation for throughout there has been evidence of a general working-together of all concerned. From the Canadian National Railways came many of the recipes. They were tested in the institute kitchen of the Chateleine magazine. For the broadcasts that were prepared and presented in the ten provinces, several score of talented persons contributed their time and efforts. Mrs. Kate Aitken and Mme. Jehanne Benoit prepared a series of radio talks on the subject of Canadian cooking. And don't forget behind them all—the boys with the original plan for turning every American's visit to Canada into "an adventure in good eating"—the Jaycees.

WEDDING VOWS

TAKEN HERE

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Creed, Newmarket, was the scene of a pretty wedding on Saturday, July 31, when Miss Margaret Kathleen Margerison, Niagara Falls, was united in marriage to Mr. Carman R. Shier, Newmarket. Rev. R. G. Babcock officiated, assisted by Rev. L. R. Coupland, who was also at the piano.

Miss Verna Shier sang Through the Years and Saviour Like a Shepherd Lead Us.

The bride wore an afternoon dress of white taffeta with net skirt over taffeta, finger-tip veil, white accessories and a corsage of pink roses. Mrs. Ronald McCourt, sister of the bride, was matron of honor in aqua blue satin, white accessories and corsage of yellow roses. Miss Linda Shier, bridesmaid, wore pink taffeta with lace insets, white accessories and corsage of mixed carnations.

Best man was Mr. Chas. Sedore, Sundridge.

Mrs. W. Creed received wearing a turquoise dress and corsage of pink roses.

Following a reception on the lawn, the happy couple left for a honeymoon in Northern Ontario.

The bride travelled in an ice blue shantung dress and cape with white accessories. On their return they will reside in Aurora.

AMELIA PARKER

WEDS G. G. TRIVETT

The parsonage of the Nazarene church, Wollaston, Mass., was the scene of the marriage June 24 of Amelia Mary, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Parker, Hughesville, Pa., to Mr. Garnet G. Trivett, Newmarket, son of Mr. Garnet Trivett, Toronto, and the late Mrs. Trivett. Dr. J. Glenn Gould performed the ceremony.

Miss Audrey Ward was the bride's only attendant and Mr. Douglas Alexander was groomsmen. They are both students at Eastern Nazarene college, Wollaston, Mass. The bride is a graduate of Cleveland Bible college and Eastern Nazarene college and the groom a student of Eastern Nazarene college.

Following a wedding trip to Cuniff Lodge near Westboro, Mass., the couple is now at home in Wollaston.

—Mrs. Frank Johnston and Mrs. John Bateman are holidaying this week at Southampton.

ZEPHYR GIRL WED

IN SURREY, ENG.

Surrey Congregational church, Haslemere, was the scene of the marriage July 16 of Marguerite Anne, daughter of Mrs. Lockie and the late Mr. John H. Lockie, Zephyr, and Mr. George Herbert Dawty, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. A. Dawty, Pershore, Glos. The service was conducted by the Rev. Norman Cave and began with the Bridal March from Lohengrin and included the hymns, Praise my Soul the King of Heaven and O Love Divine and Golden and ended with Mendelssohn's Wedding March.

The bride, given in marriage by Mr. Guy Puckle, wore a hooped ivory satin gown with a pearl encrusted bertha and coronet with finger-tip veil. She wore a strand of seed pearls and carried a bouquet of orchids. The bride was attended by her sisters, Misses Grace and Marion Lockie, Miss Thelma Chappell, Toronto, and Miss Julie Dawty, niece of the groom. Miss Grace Lockie was gown in evelamen pink taffeta and Misses Marion Lockie and Thelma Chappell in pale green taffeta. The gowns were all fashioned similarly to the bride's and they wore white straw picture hats, pearls and carried cascades of orchids and stephanotis. Miss Julie Dawty chose pale blue taffeta and a poke bonnet and scattered rose petals down the aisle of the church. Mr. S. P. Hamill was best man and the ushers were Mr. Peter Lacke and Lieut. Buddy Messenger.

For the reception held at Graywood Hill, Haslemere, Surrey, the bride's mother chose a dove grey dress trimmed with sequins, a mauve flowered hat and an orchid corsage, she was assisted by the bridegroom's sister, Mrs. Fell, in robin's egg blue with bronze accessories and bronze rose corsage.

For travelling the bride wore a queen's blue suit, white accessories and a gardenia corsage. Mr. and Mrs. Dawty are spending their honeymoon in Cannes, France.

MARY SHANKS WED

IN ST. ANDREW'S

St. Andrew's Presbyterian church decorated with gladioli, delphinium and baby's breath, was the scene of the marriage, July 16, of Mary Josephine, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Shanks, Newmarket, and Mr. Harry Earl Landry, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Landry, Thornbury. Rev. M. E. R. Boudreau performed the ceremony. Miss Marlene Boudreau was soloist and Miss Mae Patterson, organist.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white slipper satin with fitted bodice and point Venice lace around the neck and sleeves, floor-length veil of embroidered net and her mother's sunburst of pearls. She carried red roses. Miss Margaret Morton, maid of honor, chose pale blue French frosted organdy with picture hat of white straw and mohair with matching streamers. Miss Isabel Moulds, bridesmaid, wore pale yellow French frosted organdy with picture hat of white straw and mohair and matching streamers. The flower girl, Doris Mary Bosworth, in pale green organdy carried an old-fashioned nosegay. Mr. Donald Wright was best man and the ushers were Messrs. Bruce Shanks, Joseph Johnston, Art Sheridan and Ivan Daniels.

For the reception held at the church, the bride's mother received in royal blue crepe with white accessories and a corsage of red roses assisted by the groom's mother in navy crepe with matching accessories and a corsage of pink roses.

For travelling to the Lake of Bays district, the bride chose blue grey crepe trimmed with lace and navy accessories. They will reside in Newmarket. Guests were present from Toronto, Brooklin, Chatham, Thornbury and Sutton.

KITCHEN SHOWER

Aurora—On Thursday evening, at the home of Mrs. R. D. Hodgkinson, a kitchen shower was held in honor of Mrs. Agnes Brown whose marriage will take place early in September. About 35 guests were present from Aurora, Toronto and King.

PATRIOTIC SONGS AND HATS

No—there's no connection between my two titles and if there were I couldn't bridge the gulf because my brain—what there is of it—is slowly liquifying with the heat.

But, jesting aside, there has always been a distinct fascination for me in patriotic hymns and songs.

There is such variety in content and manner of expression. It always intrigues me to watch people singing their national anthem; some sing it as if they meant it, some sing it as if it were a not altogether pleasant duty, some sing it lugubriously and with a pained expression as if it didn't agree with them, while some just sing it or ignore it.

We of the Commonwealth—whether you say of Nations or British—personally I prefer British—have reason to be proud of our anthem. It rises above exaltation of country or hate and it voices the prayer of all our peoples for the symbol of unity.

It is first and last a prayer—majestic, reverent and comprehensive as is Kipling's Recessional which I think with it often reiterated refrain "Lord God of hosts be with us yet, lest we forget, lest we forget," should be memorized by every school child to show of how little value is pomp and power unless the Lord of Hosts be on our side.

Our own Canada has two well known patriotic songs—O Canada and The Maple Leaf. Everyone knows the Maple Leaf. It's tuneful and catchy and although it has no particular dignity, everyone likes to sing it. There is always an air of "I know this" when the opening chords are struck. But it infuriates me to see people either glue their eyes to a song sheet or just mumble when O Canada is sung—even the poor wishy-washy words that replace the beautiful "O Canada, our father's land of old, Thy brow is crowned with leaves of red and gold" which we first knew.

The American anthem, whether it be "My Country 'tis of thee, Sweet land of liberty" or the Battle Hymn of the Republic or The Star Spangled Banner, all eulogize their country and liberty. There is to me a boastfulness about them that I do not care for, but which I suppose a young country which has risen to such heights is entitled to.

The Marseillaise always makes me shiver. It was, one might say, written in blood. One can almost see the heads falling as the guillotine did its deadly work and the great crowd of "citizens" marched through the streets with those bloody heads on pike poles.

The old German Watch on the Rhine was then as it has always been the song of a nation that saw and sought only their own pontification. "A voice resounds like thunder's peal, mid dashing waves and clang of steel, The Rhine, the Rhine, the German Rhine who guards today thy stream divine."

Before the revolution, Russia had a beautiful and stately anthem—God Save our noble Czar, which contrasts favorably with the Internationale and Hymn of Hate. Finlandia and For Norge echo their people's sturdy fineness. Our national songs are us!

HATS

The funniest things I ever see
Are hats on you—and hats on me.
They may a cartwheel imitate,
Or centreless large dinner plate.
They may repose above one eye
And laws of gravity defy;

Or set so far back on a head
One often fears they've really fled.
They may be just a single flower
Or from some base a feather tower;
Some are like halos, some like crests,
And some resemble strange bird nests.
We saw a hat the other day
Which nearly took our breaths away—
It looked as if its wearer had Been through a battle, or got mad
And forced her way through a leafy screen
To come away with garlands green
All dangling wild about her face
Of which 'twas hard to find a trace.
It seems to me just looking on That anything we set upon
These much-enduring heads of ours,
Be it feathers, straw or flowers—
A lampshade just turned upside down,
A flower pot on some curly crown;
A twist of tulle, or this or that,
It can be labelled still—a hat!

News n' Views

By GEORGE HASKETT

A little of this and a little of that and before you know it we'll have a column (two hope). Summer's on the wane. Here it is open season on play-offs again. Fans, a good number of them, came away from the park Thursday convinced if our gals can play another like that on the road this week, Midland will have had the eliminators served to them. That twisting little wind-up of Muriel Rawns, so troublesome in the past to our lady swingers, seems to have been mastered. May have to eat all these rosy promises before the series winds up but hope not.

Curfew shall not ring tonight—but it did last Friday for our lacrosse "Redmen" tribe at Weston in the semi-final set-to with Westmounts. Down Weston way it seems curfew law says flood-lights in the park must go off at eleven chimes. In fact the switches are pulled whether or not a game is in progress. Making a long story shorter, the time-keepers, in order to get the game in, came to an agreement to shorten the last five minutes. Neither referees nor teams were informed. Newmarket lost a goal advantage they held and finally lost out 10-9. Larry Sheffe and Coach Matt Walsh filed a complaint on this state of affairs with O.L.A. secretary Charlie Rowan. Apparently they have the referees support. Whether the protest will get beyond the talking stage remains to be seen. By the by, the lacrosse semi-finals are a three out of five go, winner meeting Midland for B group honors. Les. Beazer is looking for a full house at the rink here tonight as the series resumes. Why not just take a stroll down, it's cool inside. Action is hot, you won't regret the trip.

"Cecears" McDonald and his happy band of Vets gladiators have something like eight postponed games to catch up before the regular grind goes into the records. Unless some action is forthcoming immediately it looks as though the finals will be reached about the time the snow flies. Look who's talking about snow with it ninety in the shade. North York League president Fred Morris promises action in the matter of catching up on the postponements. It's a fact almost every club in the circuit has shied away from fulfilling their Saturday night billings. Why, I can't say. Does seem a pity. Always had an idea Saturday evening would drag out the fans, especially folks in to do their grocerying. This of course is only a surmise—could be on the wrong track.

Prexy Ross Chapman and his board of governors in the Lake Simcoe circuit closed unfinished business last week. Regular schedule closes Monday. Has been some speculation among folks hereabouts as to the play-offs. It's six teams in, Keswick, Mount Albert, Hope, Pine Orchard, Willow Beach and Zephyr. How they'll actually finish is anybody's guess. That leaves Vondorf, Brownhill and Sharon out of it. The draw brings first and third, second and fourth and fifth and sixth. First and third go at it three out of five, the other two brackets two in three. The winners of last two series clash for right to go into the finals against winner of first and third. Believe me, there'll be some hot times before a winner runs up the pennant flag.

Haskett's Hash: When the Metropolitan Hockey league executive convenes, um let's see, shall we say two months from now, Mr. Hines. Art Kneeshaw, Bradford representative, will have something to tell 'em about holes-in-hole. Art negotiated one at the Aurora golf course recently. Next to fishermen speaking about "big ones" or maybe lawn bowlers on the ends they run, golfers can talk about their feats as well as the next one. Skipper Frank Courtney and Coach Chas. VanZant found themselves with three of their players on the injured list. That's Edna Sleight, Pat Duncan and Lyalla Rose. The latter is lost for the balance due to appendicitis. The ladies, says the skipper, open their P.W.S.U. action August 24. It'll be either Cobourg or Lindsay. Mary Osborne was back at third base last Thursday. She has a steading influence on the infield. Phyl McInnis, methinks, set a record Thursday with 14 put-outs at second base, and an all-star performance.

The Vets O.A.S.A. activity due September 7 against either Brampton or Lake Shore Legion.

Bantams Vs Markham At Stuart Scott Friday

Our bantam baseball squad, who for a time disappeared from the sport sheets, expect to be back in action Friday evening against Markham Midgets at Pantry Park. Coach Frank Hollingsworth expects to field his full club, the one which will carry Newmarket colors in the Ontario baseball playdowns. Game is due to get underway at seven chimes. Our youngest representatives would like nothing better than to show their stuff to a good turn-out of the Newmarket ball fans.

BARRIE, AURORA TAKE TENNIS DOUBLES

The super-special invitation tournament rigged up by the Newmarket and North York Tennis League to bring about a further tennis revival went off without a hitch last week. It was voted a grand success all down the line. The only unredeeming feature as far as the host club was concerned was the failure of Newmarket over-the-webbing enthusiasts to stake a claim to any of the major prizes and trophies awarded to the champions in each section.

Keith Davis, partnered with Bob Yates, came nearest to that honor, gaining the finals in the men's doubles only to be halted there by a strong Barrie combination of Jack Boys and Chas. Seagram. It was a hard fought duel and brought about some fine tennis. The Newmarketers annexed the first game 6-2, but couldn't quite match the Barrie duo, losing the next two 6-4, 6-3. Davis and Yates worked their ways to the finals with a 13-11, 6-4 triumph over Frank Wims and Chas. Seath, Aurora. Previously, Jack Boys and Chas. Seagram, the ultimate champions, earned their final berth with a 6-4, 6-0 win over Stan Walker and Les Owrman, Aurora. Entries in this section came from Stouffville, Aurora, Barrie, Richmond Hill and Newmarket.

In the ladies' doubles Peggy Garstand and Jill Holden of the Aurora Tennis club took top honors, defeating Sally and Mary Lynn Boys, Barrie, in the finals 6-2, 3-6, 6-2. This was another well played set. This event was run off in a round robin series with four entries, the above mentioned combinations with Mary Dales and Margaret Davis finishing third with one point. Joyce Bothwell and Joan Peppiatt completed the entry list but failed to gain a point and finished fourth.

Ladies' And Lacrosse Semi-Finals Tonight

Two important events demanding attention from the sports fraternity are on tap for tonight. First at the park Newmarket Ladies are due to tangle with Midland "Merchants." It's the third and deciding tilt of their semi-final series. To say the least, as both teams boast a win, it should prove the game of the year. Newmarket gained the advantage by winning the toss for the right of the third and clincher game. Midland voiced keen resentment after Monday's game indicating the third game should be on their diamond but the league constitution ruled otherwise necessitating the toss. After taking the whole family out to the ball game why not head for the rink. Newmarket "Redmen" and Westmounts will be knocking each other's blocks off just about the time you get there in the second game of their best three in five lacrosse semi-finals. You won't regret the journey.

17TH WIN TO ONE LOSS

Aurora softballers took a neat 7-4 verdict over Langstaff on Tuesday night at Aurora. It was the 17th win of the year for the Ryan-Holman clan as against one defeat. Three games with Newmarket Vets remain. Bill Bowen worked the whole way for Langstaff with Jack Runney giving way in the fifth to Andy O'Neil for Aurora, with O'Neil taking credit for the win. Jim McDonald, Teddy Bennett and Doug Clarke three-starred the Aurora win.

ENTERED IN SPORTS DAY

"Cecears" McDonald expects to lead his Veterans' softball crew into Queensville to take part in the tournament staged there as part of the annual Sports Day.

Hot Race For Simcoe Lead

There's a mighty hot race on for top spot in the Lake Simcoe scramble. One thing certain is the play-off teams. They're Keswick, Pine Orchard, Hope, Willow Beach, Zephyr and Mount Albert. How they'll finish, time alone and Tuesday will tell. Out of the glory series are Vandorf, Brownhill, Sharon and Queensville.

Pine Orchard cornered one share in the win market downing Sharon 9-5, but slipped off the track losing to Hope 8-6. It was a third loss for Pine Orchard. That 9-5 win over Sharon was accomplished on eight-run production in the second. Bob Shropshire, "Chick" Shropshire and Doug Hope swung potent willow for the winners to ease Ted Tidman over the rough spots. Loose fielding by Sharon had Ivan Eves in trouble considerably. Bob McNern's would-be single went for a round tripper when it skipped away in the outfield.

Hope, led by the pitching of Lon Ganton and Don Glover, scrapped the Pine Orchard winning drive. Ross Eves gained the hero role with an important bases-loaded triple in the sixth to assure the Hope win. Doug Hope was main Pine Orchard swinger, Bill Dike tripled. Ed Tidman and "Josh" Preston shared the loss.

Think of those cool breezes off Lake Simcoe. And think of Willow Beach up with three victories to dive right into fourth place. In "a best of the season" the Beachers on Cec. McNeill three hit, eleven strike-out run put away Mount Albert 2-0. "Red" Mitchell counted six going down swinging but was out-gunned in this one. Ted Anderson, Don Cameron and Bill Wilkison were responsible for the Beach margin. "Red" Mitchell and the Cases, Joe and Kelly, gained the Mount hits.

The Beachers second chance to crow came with a 9-4 win over Sharon, on a bushel-basket of Sharon errors. Cec. McNeill again up with another mound winning performance. Hal Proctor and "Red" McNern blew in with three batters, Ted Anderson did likewise for the winners. McNeill staged a third winning effort taming Brownhill 14-5. The Hillers used a parade of pitching talent Max Chapman, Bob Allan and Duff Sedore. Carl Sedore's home-run smash with the sacks fully populated, accounted for four of the five Hill runs.

Ladies Nip Midland In Semi-Final Tilt

Midland tied series Monday night with 6-5 win. The series is up for decision tonight.

Either catching or coaching a favorite home-brewed expression with Charlie VanZant is "You pitch and I'll worry". Thursday evening as Newmarket ladies set off the semi-final fireworks with Midland, pitcher Hester Clark took him up on this. Charlie got the best of the bargain as Hester pitched so well he had little to worry about. Hester set the usually potent swinging crew from the Georgian Bay shores down with two harmless hits and turned them back 5-0.

Don't imagine for a minute that Hester Clark did the whole job, for that wouldn't be correct. She got a lot of help from her mates in the field. Number one chief assistant was Phyl McInnis. Phyl came up with an all-star performance around the key-stone sack recording no less than 14 put-outs.

Newmarket got a two-run assault going on Muriel Rawns in the first on Mary Ellen McInnis' single, Jackie Moore's down the line bunt and Lois Manning pushed them home on a solid double that sailed over the Midland centre fielder's head. Newmarket went on to pick up an equal number in the second as a result of singles by Edna McGrath, Phyl McInnis, Jackie Moore and Mary Ellen McInnis' double. Newmarket plated their fifth tally in fourth as Mona Dean started off with a perfect bunt and completed the home-ward journey on an infield out and a first base error.

Midland had few chances to break their string of goose eggs as fast fielding stopped any runners before second base. Phyl McInnis, Mary Ellen McInnis, Jackie Moore, Edna McGrath and Mona Dean, each two hits.

New Flood-Lights For Schomberg

"A Dream Come True" was the way Harold Russell, president of the Schomberg Lions Club, described what was happening in Schomberg on Tuesday as close to 1,500 softball fans gathered for the official opening of the new flood-light system. Rightly enough prexy Russell gave credit for the idea and the drive down the home stretch to Gladstone Lloyd, Schomberg postmaster and sports enthusiast. It was "Glad" who kept the plan alive when others were ready to give up. Bob Moody, village commissioner, and another redhot sports enthusiast, also came in for some well merited words of praise, before Jack Smith, M.P., pressed the button that flashed for posterity the six clusters of lights with their 21 brilliant Kleigs. It was a pretty sight to see the greenward look greener than ever, softball played with the added background of complete darkness, and the gay colors of female and softball ensemble stand out picturesquely. Actually, it was not the first ball game played under the lights at Schomberg as Langstaff drew that honor last week when Bill Bowen and company went 14 innings with the "Bergers, North York entry. The evening saw Schomberg juveniles down Bolton 14-1, and People's of the Beachers senior circuit take a 6-1 verdict over Levy's of the same league. The arrangements were perfect and the folks out Schomberg way have certainly put the bigger centres to shame so far as community spirit and a modern ball park are concerned.

The big game between the two football teams rounded out the big night and the calibre of ball played was a revelation to most of the people present. Both teams presented regular line-ups and used three pitchers each and went all out to win despite the fact there was nothing at stake except the pure joy of winning. All the players wore gloves and they used the longer pitching box. With the longer box, lead-offs from the bases are permitted as soon as the big apple leaves the hand of the hurler. Another change in the ordinary softball rules is the one whereby a batter hit by a pitched ball gets a base, as in baseball.

It was nip-and-tuck, all the way to the seventh, when the previous 1-1 score was broken as People's blazed over three runs, and followed with two more in the bottom of the eighth, to put the contest on ice. Norm Bag-nell, who pitched part of the last season for Aurora, took the hill for Levy's to open the game with Al Sullivan, another young hurler, opposing him. Bag-nell pitched nice ball, giving up two hits, fanning four and walking one in three frames. Sullivan, while only giving up one hit, was saved by grand support and he struck out two. Murray Dowey, who will be remembered as goal tender of the R.C.A.F. hockey team which won the Olympic title, took over from Sullivan and wildness won Johnny Furlong's bingle counted Levy's run in the fourth. Harley Taylor assumed Levy's chore and he pitched nice ball but an error, walk and passed ball enabled People's to knot the count in the fifth. Taylor allowed one hit and fanned four. Dowey gave up one hit and whiffed one. The stage was now set for what promised to be the piece de resistance, as Russ Johnson, long one of Canada's softball greats, strode to the mound for People's and bespectacled, colored Percy McCracken, ex-heaver for Joe Louis' Bombers, assumed the pitching job for Levy's.

It was not to be however, the husky Johnson was too much for Levy's except Furlong, as he fanned five and gave up one hit in three. McCracken was in hot water from the start and after the first three batters got on quit cold in the eyes of the fans. He erred on the first batter, walked the next and catcher Hodges allowed one to get away. That was just about enough for the cocky Mr. McCracken who has all kinds of stuff, and on every pitch hits his hip with a resounding swish as he fires. From there on he just went through the motions. Johnson in the late 30's proved he still must rate as one of the best in the business.
